“Russian stamps and postal stationery were an integral part of Finland’s postal operations for almost thirty years at the turn of the 20th century.

This comprehensive book written by the leading experts of this field gives us an insight to this so far little researched period. I am sure this book will be heavily used by the friends of Finnish and Russian philately.”

– Ari Muhonen FRPSL
FIP judge, postal history, Finland

“This book is the first one gathering a complete overview on this interesting period, while also bringing it to the English speaking community.

Over 150 million Russian stamps were used in Finland during this time. The authors document and shed new light on an intriguing area of Finnish philately.”
